The Urban League of Philadelphia (ULP) is a non-profit, nonpartisan, civil rights and community-based organization that provides direct services, research and policy advocacy to help individuals and communities reach their fullest potential. Primarily working with African Americans and other emerging ethnic communities, the ULP is an affiliate of the National Urban League, which is the nation's oldest, and largest community-based movement devoted to empowering African Americans to enter the economic mainstream. The Barristers' Association of Philadelphia was founded in 1950 to address the professional needs and development of African American lawyers in the greater Philadelphia area, and now encompasses a network of more than 1,000 members. As an affiliate of the National Bar Association, the Barristers' Association is an active participant in a community of practicing African American judges, lawyers, paralegals and law students throughout the nation.
